A Fine Thing for the Teeth

FRAGRANT SOZODONT is a composition of the purest and choicest ingredients of the Oriental vegetable kingdom. Every ingredient is well known to have a wonderful effect on the teeth and gums. Its embalming or antiseptic property and aromatic fragrance makes it a toilet luxury. SOZODONT removes all disagreeable odors from the breath caused by catarrh, bad teeth, etc. It is entirely free from the injurious and acrid properties of tooth pastes and powders which destroy the enamel. One bottle lasts six months.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you. FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City may7-eod-D&W

BREAKING GROUND.

The map will show at a glance the immense importance to Reno of a railroad north. It was the first thing that struck us when we came into the country, and we have done our little best to impress it upon others. We have become tiresome in reiterating the superiority of the route over that from Redding or the one from Winnemucca. We have proven the character of the country by going over it and writing up its resources and advantages, and we have labored to show our reader that if the road was not built, Reno never would be what she should be. Our greatest fear has been that by reason of her many misfortunes she would lose the road, that it would be built somewhere else, and, while she would remain a good town, yet other towns would spring up, and in place of her growing into the city of Nevada, the energies that should be hers would be divided between three or four places, and none of them amount to much. We feel now, however, that the road will be built, and we feel like congratulating our readers upon the event of this afternoon, and we believe that the gentlemen who are putting in their time and money are to be congratulated also, for we believe a brilliant success awaits them. Whether or not the GAZETTE deserves any credit for the happy turn things have taken, we hope to share in the general prosperity which we believe will follow, and we will feel well repaid in seeing our beautiful town increase in population and importance.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The highest legal tribunal in Scotland has decided that a man has a right to protect his own dog in a dog fight, when his own dog is getting the worst of it, by physical violence to the other dog. A Scotchman's terrier was attacked in the street by a bigger dog and was being badly beaten. The Scotchman broke his umbrella on the larger dog and, as a last resort, cut the animal with his knife. The dog died of the wound, and its owner had the slayer arrested and fined for cruelty to animals. He appealed, and the High Court of Justiciary of Scotland has reversed the decision of the magistrate.

A Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Sun says: "From recent examinations of the bone deposits in a Devonshire cave, it is certain that man existed at least one million years ago." Now, he asks, "if man, the crown of animate creation, has inhabited this earth one million years, what must be the age of the lowest animal and vegetable life? Is not the limit of earth life to ten millions years too short by many hundreds, if not thousands, of millions?" We think it is. The coral reefs of Florida could not have been formed in so short a time as ten million years.

The printers whose bills for State printing have not been paid can alone get relief through a deficiency bill in the Legislature. If the Controller had not exhausted the appropriation, suit could be brought to compel him to issue a warrant for the payment of any bill out of the fund devoted to the purpose. But the fund in question having been exhausted, the printers must grin and bear the disappointment.

The course of the San Francisco Post in connection with the Alta deal, has been highly creditable to it, and doubtless saved many of its subscribers from losses.

The water in the Alta mine continues rising. It will probably take two months to get rid of it and allow the development of that ore body.

The largest pumping engine ever built has just been completed by the Hudson Iron Works in San Francisco, for the Chollar, Norcross and Savage shafts.

"Rum and bad women brought me here," said W. G. Gray, as the Sheriff adjusted the noose around his neck at Sherbrooke, Quebec.

HOW DOES IT DO IT?

The Silver State repeats its fond assertion that the GAZETTE is injuring the silver mining interests of Nevada by opposing the depreciated silver dollar. If it can show us where the present silver law benefits silver mining, we will work a great deal harder in its favor than the Winnemucca Silver State ever did. Come now, old man! Keep your temper and give us the secret. How does the coinage of the present depreciated dollar benefit the silver mining interests of Nevada?

At least twenty tons of oleomargarine go into American stomachs every day under the name of butter.

Moral Observation for Husbands.

From the Carson Appeal.

It is pretty safe to say that not one woman in a dozen goes astray when she feels that she is the possessor of her husband's undivided affections.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning. The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourself if you can afford for the sake of saving to etc., to run the risk and do nothing for it? We know from experience that Shiloh's cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves cough, and whooping cough, at once. Mothers do not be without it. For lame back, side, or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by Osburn & Shoemaker, druggists, Reno, Nevada. nov8-eod-d&w

PERSONAL.

Col. Moore leaves for the East tonight. He will be in Reno again in January.

Col. Blennerhasset, a Democrat well known in Nevada, has removed from this State to Arizona.

G. W. Mapes and family came in from their ranch last night and are domiciled for the winter at Mrs. Kell's.

Mr. McMechan came up this morning to be present at the commencement of the Nevada & Oregon Railroad. He returns to San Francisco to-night, and will be back here in January.

Mr. Carsted, a civil engineer late in the employ of the Nevada & Oregon Railroad Co., leaves for San Francisco to-night. He has secured a desirable position on the Southern Pacific in Arizona.

Building a Custom Mill.

A force of men are grading the foundation for a quartz mill about a mile northwest of town, where the Highland ditch crosses the Norton toll road. The mill is to be run by water power from the ditch. The work is being done for the Reno Mill Association, under the supervision of T. V. Julien. It is believed that there is plenty of good ore in sight in the Peavine mines to give the mill abundance of custom work.

Notings.

J. C. Hagerman has received an invoice of "Boss Coffee Pots."

All the Mills on the Truckee river have closed down except the Truckee Lumber Company's.

There is a good Christmas trade this year, in spite of the dull times. The White House is doing a splendid business in hats, handkerchiefs, gloves, cravats, etc.

Getting Back to the Mutton.

The examination of Vener was yesterday postponed until to-morrow at 10 A. M. Therp's case came up this morning, and a continuance of the examination was granted until Monday next at 10 A. M.

The Water Supply.

Water was admitted from the Highland ditch to the new reservoir this morning. The pipes will be supplied with full pressure next Saturday.

THE CEREMONY OF BREAKING GROUND.

An Eloquent and Interesting Speech From Gov. Woods.

Ground was broken on the line of the Nevada & Oregon Railroad this afternoon, with appropriate ceremonies. The point selected was in Evans' field, opposite Brookins' house, where a crowd of several hundred gathered. At 2 o'clock Gen. Hatch called the meeting to order and introduced Gov. Woods, who addressed the concourse on the nature and objects of the enterprise. The Rev. W. R. Jenvey then briefly but eloquently invoked the divine blessing on the work. Col. Moore, the contractor for the road, broke the ground, and threw the first shovelful of earth over the crowd, by way of baptism. Three cheers were given and the people dispersed. The following is Gov. Woods' speech, in full:

Fellow Citizens:—Whether there is a primordial law controlling commercial affairs, presiding as a God, over its destiny, and directing its movements it is not for me to say. I leave that for casuists and metaphysicians to determine. But this I do know, the laws of demand and supply are equal to each other. And, more, that the necessity for cheap and rapid transportation is always in proportion to the sum of commercial transactions. This is an age of marvelous activity among all nations. The human mind, everywhere is wrought up to its highest tension. The pulsations of energy encircle the globe; great events burst upon each other with bewildering rapidity. It is now scarcely a half-century since the first railroad was constructed in America, and yet there are now 80,000 miles of operating railway in the United States alone, penetrating its every part, and bearing away its products to the busy marts of the world. Only sixteen years ago all that vast empire stretching from the Missouri river westward, to the Pacific, and from the British possessions on the north, to Mexico, was traversed only by caravans, which, with slow and steady step, bore the burdens of a then large, and rapidly increasing commerce. Now the Iron Horse, with resistless power, is rushing everywhere, through valley, and mountain, and plain as the crowned Evangel of Commerce, bearing upon its wings joy, and prosperity, and power, and whose magic wand but touches earth, and it answers back with its waving fields of golden grain, and with teeming populations, and mighty cities, and industries that beautify the world, and make glad the hearts of men.

Nowhere have railroad men found a finer field for investment than upon the Pacific Slope. And such is the magnitude of the enterprises now inaugurated in our midst, and they follow each other in such rapid succession, that we can scarcely keep abreast with their movements, or comprehend their vastness. And not the least of these is the Nevada & Oregon Railroad, which we inaugurate to-day. It has, for a long time, been apparent to those who have given the subject any thought, that in order to complete the railroad system of the Pacific Slope, a lateral line would, in the very nature of things, be required to meet the commercial wants of the vast and rapidly increasing population on the eastern shed of the Sierra and Cascade mountains—a region of country so great as to be an empire within itself, and one, too, which is now wholly untraversed, for the purposes of trade, except by wagons. Several attempts have been made in the past to occupy this field and meet this want, but, for some reason, each and every effort has proven abortive. The people, always ready to foster any great and beneficial enterprise, have been lifted up in anxious expectation, but to fall again. No thoughtful man has ever doubted that a road penetrating that region would pay, and pay very largely. The time had not come, in the wise dispositions of Providence, for its utilization. It remained for the projectors of the Nevada and Oregon Railroad to step in and reap the harvest. I am happy to say, and in saying so I am sure that I give utterance to the sentiments of the entire Board of Directors, that we are wholly satisfied with the prospect before us. It is our opinion that no finer enterprise is or can be presented on the Pacific Coast. It is without a rival. It has no competing lines, nor can it have any; and it is and will continue to be the policy of the company to avoid all antagonisms as well with all other railroad corporations as with the people with whom they come in contact. For the information of those most interested, and the public at large, I will state that the construction of the road from Reno north to the Oregon line is under contract with Col. Thomas Moore, of Elizabeth, New Jersey, a man in whom the company have full and implicit confidence and whose skill, faithfulness, and untiring energy in the past, in the construction of some of the most important railroads in the East are an earnest of what we shall realize here. All arrangements are now completed in a manner most satisfactory to the Company, and we assure you that the work will be pushed forward with all possible dispatch, until the contract shall be completed. And then another contract will follow, and another, until the Columbia river shall be reached, and thus connect with the great railway system of the Northwest Coast. Added to this, it is the purpose of the Company to construct a branch from some point beyond the north end of Goose Lake, not yet determined, through by, or in the vicinity of, Linkville, to the great Rogue River valley, and another branch through to Eugene City, at the head of the Willamette valley, thus making their system complete. The region which will thus pay tribute to the road is a vast empire within itself. It is no disparagement to the intelligence of this people, to say that but little of its real worth is known to the other world. No finer, or more inviting country can be found on earth. Its isolation in consequence of the lack of easy, cheap, and rapid transportation, has kept it hidden from the world. But, now, by the talismanic touch of railroads, the curtain will be pulled aside and its beauties and excellencies revealed. It requires no argument to show, Fellow Citizens, of Reno, that your town will be the centre of a great railroad system. Without disparaging any other of the cities and towns of Nevada, we feel justified in saying that no place in the State has as bright a future as Reno; situated immediately on the great trans-continental highway, in close proximity to the mountains, nestling like a resplendent jewel on the banks of a majestic river, whose limpid waters give verdure and beauty to the plain, and make glad the hearts of men—it is the natural distributing point—the commercial centre—of the vast and rapidly improving mining, grazing, and agricultural districts, which lay to the north and south.

The Central Pacific railroad with its almost unparalleled trade, the Virginia & Truckee railroad from the south, and the Nevada & Oregon railroad on the north, with the pulsating energy of an active commerce, pouring in their wealth, will make a proud future of Reno, while by the facilities for transportation which the Nevada and Oregon railroad will furnish, the march of immigration will be diverted north and a vast population will soon occupy the fertile fields of California, and Southern and Southeastern Oregon.

But the occasion would not justify me in a further elaboration of the purposes and prospects of the Company. I will only add that it is the desire, and it will be the policy of the Company, to so conduct its business affairs as to secure, and keep the sympathy, and active cooperation, and support of the people in the communities through which their road will pass. The people will be profited by the road, and the road will be profited by the people. There shall be such a mutuality of interests and advantages as shall make contentions impossible, unless Reason shall be dethroned. One word more and I shall have done. Through the Reno State Journal of to-day we are informed that the rumor has gone forth that the Chinese labor will, for the most part, be employed in the construction of the road. I know not what gave rise to the rumor. Certainly it is untrue. While we want it distinctly understood that we propose to exercise our rights as freemen in the employment of such labor as in our judgment is best for the interests of the company, we state in the most emphatic manner, that we shall employ white labor if we can procure it on anything like reasonable terms. If white laborers will be true to us we will be true to them, because it comports with our interests and our wishes. And now, as I bid you good-bye, I express the hope that in all our relations in the future, as citizens and as business men, the spirit of amity and of true friendship may prevail.

THE ROAD HOME.

A Fine Grade to American Valley—The Town of Quincy and Surroundings.

A very short visit to a strange country is much better than a long course of reading about it. It is impossible to convey to another the things we see in traveling. One of the most picturesque rides in the mountains is from Greenville to Quincy, and yet it is extremely difficult to describe. There is nothing extraordinary about it except that the road is 23 miles long and the two places only 13 miles apart, but the country traversed is peculiar. The mountains are not very high but they are often very steep, and the road winds in and out of canyons and clings to the sides of the hills. There are deep canyons in sight all the time, with nothing to show where they come from or go to. Great ridges come up in front, and it is a constant study to know where the road comes out or which side of the country ahead it will go through. The grade is a fine one in everything but width. It is very difficult in many places for even light buggies to pass. It runs from Greenville to Crescent Mill, where it leaves Indian valley, and from there to Quincy is in an almost unbroken forest, much of it containing excellent timber. It follows Indian creek for some distance, often hanging far above its beautiful blue waters and at other times running close beside its bed. It finally crosses and leaves the creek, which makes and when it is again seen after being hidden for many miles behind a high mountain its waters are muddy and its bed slimy with tailings from the mines. It joins with Spanish creek, which waters American valley, and forms the east fork of Feather river. The route shows one of the wierdest scenes imaginable. For mile after mile there is not a house to be seen, and until almost in sight of Quincy there is nothing but a vast wilderness. Quincy is the prettiest town in California. It is pleasantly located on a flat, and is laid out to the best possible advantage. The court house and jail occupy the center of a large green square, surrounded by a wide street, and the town is built around the street. The first sensation of the tired traveller is: "How delightful it would be to stay here a month." One could forget the worry and work of running the big world in such a charming, sleepy hollow, and in the pure mountain air and the perfume from the balsam and the pine find youth and health returning. The population of Quincy is 400. It has a nice hotel, kept by Mr. Edwards, a brewery, another hotel, barber shops, livery stables, stores, etc. The Masons, Odd Fellows, Good Templars and A. O. U. W. have lodges. The Plumas National is an enterprising and well established weekly owned by Mr. Ward. The water works have a fall of 125 feet in half a mile. They come from which rises to a distance of 3,600 feet right beside the town. Several of the citizens of Reno formerly lived in Quincy, among them John S. Gilson, who has many friends there. Mining is looking up in the vicinity of Quincy, and it is predicted that there will be a rush there in the spring. Both quartz and gravel mines are being opened. A Chicago company had 60 men at work last summer on Spanish Peak. New mines were being struck all the fall until winter came on and drove the prospectors out of the mountains. American valley is 6 miles long, on Spanish creek, and is rather an odd-looking valley. The ranches are divided from each other by wooded ridges, which rather form a succession of valleys than parts of a continuous one. The ranchers have nice houses and homes and seem well-to-do. They live like people did in the States before the days of railroads. Everybody has plenty, and while no one is very rich, there is no such thing as suffering, and very few tramps. The fruit crop is almost sure, and with mixed crops and a few cattle and hogs, their farms are almost self-supporting. Nearly all the ranchers have "locations" of their own. Some bring in a little money and others absorb all that is put in them. There are a great many arastars run on little claims, and they often add considerably to the owner's income.

It is an established fact that Davidson gives the best satisfaction in repairing fine watches and jewelry.

SMELTING WORKS.

A Man Who Wants to See Them Erected in Reno—He Gives Good Reasons for the Faith That is in Him.

LOVELOCK, Nev., Dec. 18. Ed. Gazette:—I see in your weekly of Dec. 16 considerable talk of building some furnaces for smelting of base ores carrying silver and gold. Now, I think that the best and proper place would be Reno. For the first reason you have an unlimited amount of water power; you are close to the best of fuel, and you have a large amount of that kind of ore in your own vicinity. Next there is a large amount of base ores along the C. P. R. in Humboldt Co., and by getting special rates so as to ship the ore in bulk, having the furnaces so situated that a car can run to the furnace, there is an immense quantity of good smelting ore that could be delivered very cheap at Reno. I could deliver on cars at Orleans one carload per day, that would average $60 per ton silver, $10 in gold, 30 per cent. in lead, 15 per cent. in antimony and ten per cent. iron. It is carbonate ore and smelts splendidly, and there is an unlimited amount of it on hand. The ore contains no arsenic or sulphur. The only drawback to the ore is the antimony, but the Salt Lake furnace men have a method of evaporating the antimony out of the ore, and condensing it so that it is not a nuisance as it was under the old way of smelting. There is another kind of base ore here which will average $100 to the ton, but does not carry so much lead; say about 10 per cent. Also considerable galena could be obtained that would go $150 to the ton. [Also, if your furnace should want flux, they can find any amount half-way between Brown's and Hot Springs station. It is tufa, and is the best of flux. The railroad cuts right through it. At Hot Springs you can get the best of fire stone (sand stone). It is in layers of from 6 to 18 inches in thickness. The fine-grained is the best to stand fire. It stands equal to the best fire brick. It is just a mile from the station and easily quarried, and if a good furnace could be put up on the Salt Lake plan at Reno it would accommodate a large circle of country.]

TALK IS CHEAP,

And So Are FINE Clothing, BOOTS, SHOES, HATS, GENTLEMEN'S AND BOYS' FINE FURNISHING GOODS.

If you go to the right place to get them. This is a mighty important point, for some people who assert that they sell cheap do nothing of the kind. We do not boast when we say that we defy competition in prices in anything in our line. Besides this we have only one price. We have no preferred customers. Everybody is treated alike at our establishment. Our stock is the largest and most complete ever offered in any part of this State. Everything we have is new. No old, musty and out-of-date goods can be found on our shelves. We receive daily by rail and express the latest and best goods, which are obtained at first hand and sold at prices below those now prevailing in New York and Chicago. Let the people come and judge of our prices and examine our stock before going into those humbugging, Cheap John shops, in which they drum into the ear of the customer that they sell at cost and even below cost. Anybody with common sense must know that they lie. No storekeeper sells goods for the fun of the thing. We make a profit on everything we sell, as every honest merchant does, and don't print foolish falsehoods in the vain hope of deceiving the public. One must make a profit to live. We particularly call attention to our full stock of fancy underwear, such as is kept nowhere else in Reno. This class of goods form one of our specialties. Orders from the country promptly attended to. Look out for the White Building with the Gold Sign.
